Neural networks and deep learning For the most part I'm going to stick with the graphical point of view. But in what follows you may sometimes find it helpful to switch points of view, and think about things in terms of if-then-else.. We can use our bump-making trick to get two bumps, by gluing two pairs of hidden neurons together into the same network:. The Trinity Foundation - The Virtue of Name-Calling American Christians of the twentieth century are, for the most part, a pusillanimous bunch. About the only time they shed their timidity is in order to attack a fellow Christian who is valiant in defense of the truth.
