The sound of a high, lonesome fiddle always evokes memories in my mind of long ago places and people in my life, and that's also what this song is about "my personal history that I associate with the sounds of traditional Appalachian folk music." Nicholas Mudd. Listen here: High Lonesome - Psychotherapy Networker High lonesome is a type of music in the bluegrass tradition that captures the mood of isolation many people feel today, as we turn away from one another and toward blame and rage. Our challenge as a nation is to reclaim human connection and true belonging even as, more and more, we sort ourselves into antagonistic tribes. But to do that, we'll need to choose courage over comfort.
